Biography

Timothy Nush, MD, practices family medicine including obstetrics at Goshen Physicians Family Medicine Pro Park. As a board certified family physician, he cares for patients through all stages of life, from newborn to senior citizen. Dr. Nush treats a wide variety of health issues including everyday colds and flu, circumcisions, minor wounds, fractures and skin disorders. He also provides routine exams, vaccinations and immunizations and helps patients manage chronic conditions such as heart disease, diabetes and high blood pressure. Dr. Nush is specially trained in obstetric care for pregnant women including vaginal births after a cesarean. He also treats a range of women's health concerns from adolescence through menopause. In his free time, Dr. Nush enjoys spending time with his family and playing ice hockey.

Philosophy of Care

For Dr. Nush, patients are like family. He treats everyone with the same compassionate care and concern as he would his own relatives. Dr. Nush takes a holistic approach to care and looks for ways to treat patients without medications when possible. He also places a high priority on education to help patients better understand how to modify lifestyles and manage their conditions.
