Biography

Brittany Altimus is a board certified family nurse practitioner with Goshen Physicians. She provides primary care and urgent care for insured Jayco employees and their family members at the on-site location. She offers preventive care, such as wellness exams, health screenings, immunizations and vaccinations, and treats patients with both acute illnesses or minor injuries and chronic diseases.

Brittany's board certifications in family practice and adult-geriatric primary care gives her a holistic perspective in how she provides care over the lifespan. She also has years of nursing experience in the emergency department and as a wellness coach.

Philosophy of Care

Brittany believes in looking at the whole picture when it comes to a patient's health. She meets each patient where they are in their health journey and encourages them to take an active role in building a healthy lifestyle that fits their individual preferences.
