

Taylor Klimach, LAT, ATC, EMT-B

Specialty: Athletic Training

GOSHEN PHYSICIANS ORTHOPEDICS & SPORTS MEDICINE

1824 Dorchester Ct, Goshen, IN 46526 Directions

574-534-2548

About Me

Taylor Klimach is a licensed and board certified athletic trainer at Goshen Physicians Orthopedics & Sports Medicine. She is an integral partner in the student athletic program at Northridge High School in Middlebury, IN. Taylor works alongside doctors, coaches and parents to establish safety protocols for athletes in grades 9-12.

As an emergency medical technician, Taylor is trained and certified to provide immediate care for athletes with sports injuries. She also creates and monitors rehabilitation plans to help young athletes return to sports activities they enjoy.

When Taylor is away from the athletic field, she enjoys spending time with family, tackling the dirt bike track and playing with her dog.

Philosophy of Care

Taylor's approach to care begins with building a strong rapport with students and earning their trust in her skills. She respects each athlete and welcomes their active participation in making decisions about their treatment and care.

Research/Clinical Interest

- Trauma
- Rehabilitation planning
- Vocal cord dysfunction

Education

Board Certified – Athletic Training

Education and training:

Bachelor of Science in Athletic Training

Western Michigan University | Kalamazoo, MI
