About Me

Anne Love, MSN, FNP, works together with Dr. Max Mertz at Goshen Physicians Family Medicine Keystone to ensure that every patient seen receives the high-quality, individualized care they deserve. Seeing patients of all ages, she is trained in diagnosis and treatment of acute and chronic illness with an emphasis on disease prevention and wellness promotion. In addition, she orders and interprets diagnostic testing, following up with both pharmacologic and non-pharmacologic treatment plans. Prior to joining Goshen Physicians Family Medicine Keystone she worked as a resident nurse in intensive care, progressive care, oncology, medical/surgical and the emergency department at Goshen Hospital. Anne earned her Master of Science in Nursing from the University of Saint Francis in Fort Wayne, Indiana, and Bachelor of Science in Nursing from Goshen College in Goshen, Indiana. In recognition of her outstanding academic achievements, she was selected to join Sigma Theta Tau International Honor Society of Nursing. Anne resides with her family near the community of Goshen, Indiana, where she enjoys reading, writing, blogging, photography, genealogy, and church activities.

Philosophy of Care

Anne appreciates the relationships that can develop over time between providers and their patients, within the consistency of the practice of family medicine. She strives to create an environment where relationships can flourish so her patients embrace her office as their medical "home base" as they face the complexities of today's healthcare system.
