About

BIOGRAPHY

Beth Jones is a board certified nurse practitioner at NeuroCare Center Goshen Physicians. She specializes in caring for patients with issues affecting the brain, such as dementia, migraines, Alzheimer's and Parkinson's disease. She also provides stroke care and treats patients with seizures, tremor, movement disorders, multiple sclerosis and neuropathy.

Beth began her career in nursing at Goshen Hospital in 1993. She held certifications as an oncology nurse and in biotherapy and chemotherapy until transferring to the NeuroCare Center. Her nursing experience also includes patient care as a medical-surgical nurse and training in intensive care.

A family history with strokes and migraines empowers Beth's passion and dedication to help patients manage neurological conditions. Her family is her other passion and she enjoys traveling and spending time with her husband and two sons riding ATVs.

PHILOSOPHY OF CARE

Personalized care and strong provider-patient relationships matter most to Beth. She meets each patient where they are in their health journey and walks with them through all phases of health challenges. Her focus is on providing medical care, support and education to help patients reach their goals and achieve the best quality of life possible.
